James Cox, Littleberry's youngest brother, first married Elizabeth Farris, in 1800 and then married Judith Jones, daughter of Erasmus Jones, in 1815, at Entry Creek.

Next we find them in Cannon County, Tennessee. In the 1840 Census, William H. Cox, son of James, is living 16 houses from Michael, Erasmus Sr., Aaron, and Erasmus Jr. who again were still neighbors.

James and Judith had two sons and two daughters that I could find so far. William H. Cox, born 1819 (married Apsley Bond), Lavina Ann Cox, born 1824 (married William McGee), James R. Cox, born 1826 (married Elizabeth S.), and Delila Cox, born 1828 (married John Stephen Morgan, nephew of Edmund Jones).

In 1850, James' son, James R., was living near Watertown, in Wilson County, District 19, married to Elizabeth S., or Sarah. Both were age 25. In 1860, both were 35 having daughters, Harriett, Mary and Martha.

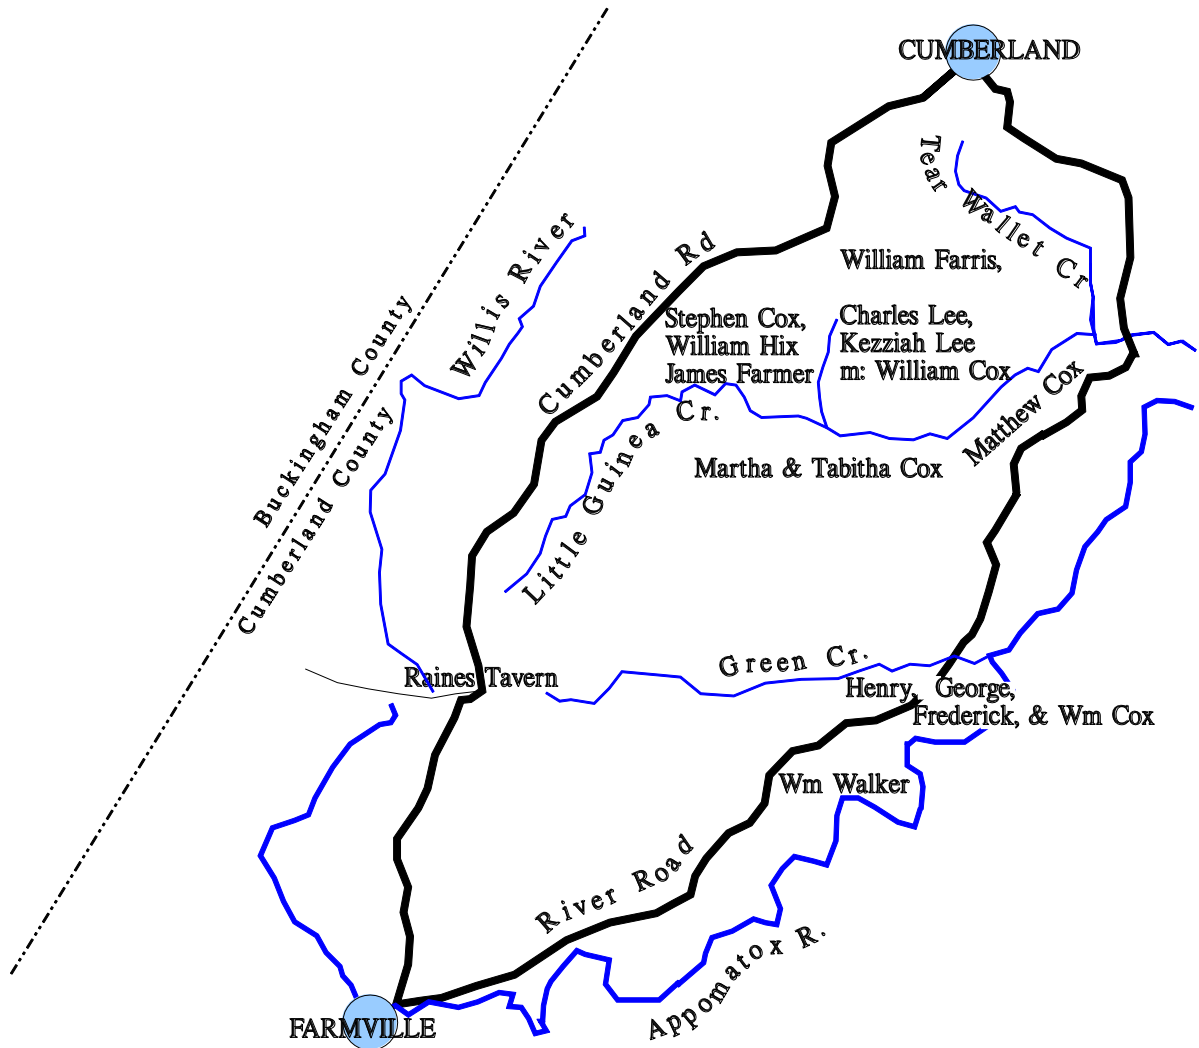

In 1870, Sarah is called Sally. James R. is still in District 19 having daughter, Martha, and a son, Jonas.

In 1900, James is a widower living with his daughter, Martha, and son-in-law, Henry B. Shorter. No record of Jonas.

J. R. and Elizabeth S. are buried at Jones Hill Cemetery, in Wilson County.

Erasmus Jones Jr. died in 1861 and is buried at the Dean Cemetery, junction of I-20 and Old Brock Rd., Weatherford, TX, west of Dallas. The cemetery is on land donated by Erasmus.

The Mystery of Absolom Cox and William Moore

On 10-10-1798, Absolom Cox married Judith W. Moore of Campbell County, Virginia. She was the daughter of William Moore, the son of John Walker and Judith Walker.

(Some Cox researchers have tried to identify this Absolom as the a grandson of John Cox of Pennsylvania who had moved to the North Carolina / Virginia border.)

On 12-24-1799, Publius Jones (brother of of Erasmus Jones) married Rebecca Moore, sister of Judith W. Moore. After Publius' death (2-25-1817) at Turnip Creek, Charlotte Co., Judith remarries Lindsay Mann.

So, Absolom Cox was a brother-in-law of Publius Jones.

In 1999, Mary Lou Hudson compiled the following information: Absolom Cox Son of Solomon Cox and Naomi Hussey Her research is poster HERE to explain and sort out two different Absolom Coxes, one in Whitley County, KY and the other in Smith County, TN. Here is an excerpt from her work:

“Absolom and Judith W. Moore Cox were listed in the 1820 Census for Smith Co., TN (This is the only Cox family listed in the 1820 census for Smith Co., TN and the only Absolom Cox listed in the 1820 census for the state of TN.) Absolom Cox is not listed on the 1820 census for Whitley Co., KY.

Absolom Cox age 45 and over (b. bef 1775) 1 female age 45 and over (b. bef 1775) 1 female age 26-45 (b. 1775-1794) 1 male age 16-26 (b. 1794-1804) 1 male age 16-26 (b. 1794-1804) 1 male age 16-18 (b. 1802-1804) 1 male age 16-18 (b. 1802-1 804) 1 male 10-16 (b. 1804-1810) 1 female age under 10 (b. 1810-1820) 1 female age under 10 (b. 1810-1820) 1 male age under 10 (b. 1810-1820) 1 male age under 10 (b. 1810-1820) 1 male age under 10 (b. 1810-1820)

The Absolom Cox living in Smith Co., TN married Judith W. Moore on Oct 1, 1798 Campbell Co., VA (Ref: Some VA Marriage s). Judith Walker Moore Cox was the d/o William Moore (Ref : Will Record of Campbell Co., VA). Judith and Absolom are both mentioned in the will of William Moore in Campbell Co., VA. William Moore was s/o John Moore and Judith Walker.

Absolom Cox and Judith listed in the 1820 census for Smith Co., TN was both born before 1775. The female listed in the 1820 Smith Co., TN would not be the child of Absolom and Judith Moore Cox. The female age 26-45 would have been born a bout 1775-1794 - before the marriage of Absolom and Judith in 1798. The other children listed could be their children.

1821 - Absolom Cox is listed on the tax list for Whitley Co., KY. Is this Absolom Jr., or Absolom Sr.? Jr.
1822-

1823 - Not listed in Whitley Co., KY

Smith Co., TN Deeds, Book H, page 406 - John Duncan to Absolom Cox 20 acres on Hickman's Creek. 15 October 1823.

The following record is found in Smith Co., TN Tennessee Divorces 1797- 1858 by Bamman and Spero, page 31 ‘August 27, 1823 Smith Co., TN -John Farmer John was married Apr 20 1 808 to Fanny H. Allen. On 20 Nov1821 she left him. She became pregnant when he was absent from the state, and it was said by William Cox. She said she was going with the said Cox when she left John and John had heard she was married or is living with another man since she left John.’

‘Statements by neighbors: Zephaniah Orange, Elizabeth R. Orange, Absalom Cox, and Judith W. Cox. Statements by Benjamin Moore, Elizabeth Thomas and C.T. Thomas. Statements by Adcock Hobson that he was acquainted with John and his wife in Virginia.’

Note: The transcribed record gives the middle initial of Judith Moore Cox as ‘H.’ Claude Cox checked the actual divorce record and the initial should be a ‘W’.

According to family records (FTM CD - Moore Family) William Moore was born 1747 in Cumberland Co., VA. William Moore married 151 to Elizabeth Johnson and 2nd to Elizabeth Simpson 1800 in Campbell Co., VA (Source?).

Jenny Moore, daughter of William Moore and a sister to Judith Moore Cox, married 1799 Campbell Co., V A to Benjamin Moore (Source: FTM CD- Moore Family & Will Record of William Moore, Campbell Co., VA). This is probably the Benjamin Moore also mentioned in the divorce record for John Farmer and Fanny Allen. A Benjamin Moore is listed in early (1800 and before) court records of Jefferson Co., TN.

Families of Buckingham/Cumberland /Campbell Counties

As illustrated in TABLE 2, James Farmer and his son, John Farmer lived close to William Cox and his wife, Kezziah Lee, in Cumberland County, Virginia.

Keziah's uncle, William Dabbs, obtained 800 acres in Campbell County on or near Entry Creek and Hat Creek. To make a long story short, these acres were distributed in 1793 among Publius Jones, Erasmus Jones, Ann Jones, William Farris, Herod Reese, John Cox, Obediah Edge, Robert Armistead, and their sons married neighboring daughters expanding to a nearby settlement on Turnip Creek, in Charlotte County.

William H. Cox, son of James Cox, Littleberry's brother, married Alesala Seates (on her wedding bond) but is referred to as “Apsley Cates” on Rootsweb. Her sister, Nancy Bond, also married a Seat, probably “Seates”. Her sisters, Margaret and Christina Bond, married Michael and Erasmus Jones Jr. (Two sisters married two brothers.) Another sister, Alesala, “Apsley”, first married a Seates like her sister, Nancy Bond. Again it is likely that two sisters married two brothers.

Caroline Bond's second marriage was to John Cox. In 1860, his father, James Cox, age 82, was living in John's residence. There are two reasons why this James Cox is not related to Littleberry's brother, James, who was also born in 1778. 1. One transcriber records that James Cox was age 82, born SC (South Carolina). 2. Judith Jones, widow of James Cox, bought land in Cannon Co., TN, in 1852. The document says that both Erasmus Jones and James Cox were deceased prior to 1852.

1895 Oklahoma Land Grab

Land west of Arkansas and Missouri eventually becoming Oklahoma after 1909 was defined as Indian Territory after 1828. The Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole settled there. After 1865, US Land Office redefined this territory as land conquered during the Civil war but still compensated the Indians seven million dollars for seven million acres.

On Monday, at noon, on 4-22-1889, the population of Guthrie, just north of Oklahoma City, was zero. By evening it was at least 10,000. There were 42,000 homesteads, but 100,000 raced for the land on that day.

After 1900, Cox, McGee, Jones and about all other surnames are suddenly found in Oklahoma.

Our McGee and Russell Side

My mother's grandfather, George Russell, was born in 1822, in Wilson Co., TN, and married Zelfhia Brooks. Zilphia Russell was born on 2-10-1826. She died on 2-15-1860, and he remarried Mary F. Crossno in about 1864. She died and was buried in Sharp Co., Arkansas, near Poukeepsie. Her family had also lived in Wilson Co., TN.

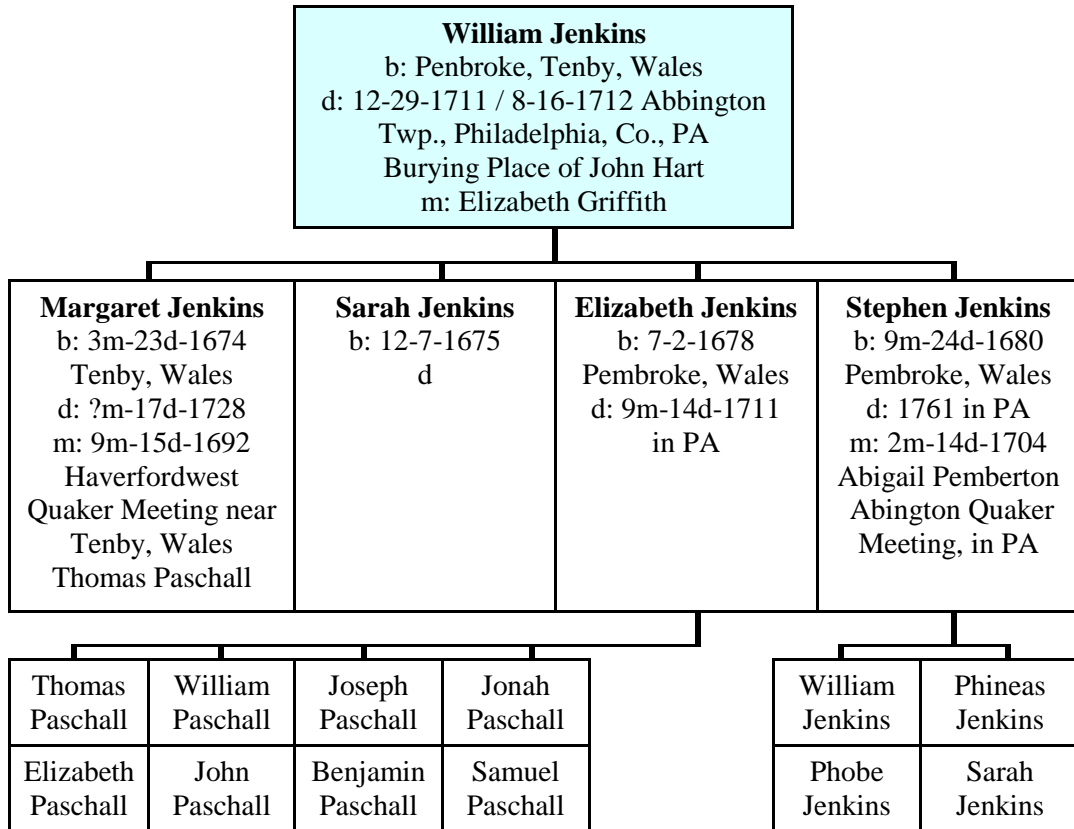

My mother's mother was Zelfhia Jane Russell who married William Van Buren McGee at Evening Shade, Sharp Co., AR. She was 28 in 1911, when my mother was born. She died shortly after childbirth, and Mom was raised by her "Aunt JoAnn", Nancy JoAnna McGee (Mrs. William Spencer Sullivan, son of Littleberry Sullivan) in Cave City. AR. William McGee remarried Mrs. M. A. Prater in 1914.

There were many Russell, Prater and Crossno family members living in Cannon and Wilson Co., TN.

Mom's "Aunt Angie", Mary Angeline McGee, married Luthis Bloomington Delman, her high school teacher, and removed to Forsythe, MO, near Branson. The grandfather of his first wife, Sarah Brashear, had been the Mayor of Lafayette, IN, in about 1860.

Chapman McGee, half brother of JoAnna and Angie, removed to Wewoka, Seminole Co., OK, and is interred eight miles east of there. Their brother, William, was closely associated with Cherokee Village, in Sharp County, and spoke the Cherokee and/or Seminole languages.

Table 13. Welsh Quaker Jenkins Family in Pennsylvania

Note: Hannah Jenkins married John Cox in 1720 John's brothers were married at Abington Quaker Meeting, near Jenkintown, PA (Hinshaw's Encyclopedia of Quaker Genealogy). These Coxes were from Abington Quaker Meeting, in Berkshire, England, not Wales.

Phineas Jenkins founded Jenkintown, PA

Marriages of Mary (Polly), Sarah (Sally), Charles, Littleberry and James Cox were also recorded in Hinshaw's Encyclopedia of Quaker Genealogy, in Campbell Co., VA. Since these lived among Welsh at Entry Creek, Campbell Co., VA, they may have been associated with Quakers from Wales.

There were several good reasons to connect the family of Littleberry Cox with the Coxes of Abington Quaker Meeting, in Berkshire, England, but, after comparing y-dna results, it is likely that they are haplogroup R1b1, not J2. More research is needed.
